MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

THROUGH : Chairman, National Intelligence Council

FROM : National Intelligence Officer for Narcotics

SUBJECT : Your Participation in a 20 May 1983 Conference Entitled:
"Disrupting Heroin Supplies to the US: Does it Make a Difference?"

1. This will confirm your acceptance of an invitation to make a few remarks at 4:30 p.m. to the summary session of a 20 May 1983 conference on the implications of possible disruptions of heroin supplies to the US market. The conference will be held in Room 7E32 at Headquarters.

2. Attending the conference will be approximately 20 analysts and middle management officers from the CIA and other Intelligence Community agencies working on narcotics, together with the following academic experts:

[] Temple University, clinical psychiatrist; research on narcotics.

25X1

[] Kent State University, narcotics control for Western Hemisphere.

25X1

[] University of New Mexico, psychological research; paper on narcotics.

25X1

[] American University, criminologist; narcotics control policy.

25X1

[] Claremont College, East Asia.

4. The following talking points are suggested:

- As you know, the President and the Congress have asked us to work diligently on the narcotics problem together with other agencies of the government and with the private sector.
- I am particularly pleased to see so many Intelligence Community agencies and academic institutions represented here today.
- I hope that today's exchange will mark the beginning of continued fruitful contact between the Intelligence Community and academic experts.
- We all need to pool knowledge on this important topic. Conferences such as this represent serious intent to implement our government's strategy for combatting the growing use of narcotics.
- Penetrating analysis on this subject will require a considerable amount of our time in years to come but will play a large role in attempts to control the flow of narcotics into the US.
